Dear Daniel,

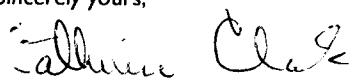

I want to thank you for the tremendous load you have taken on mind. The toll of a broken partnership in business seems to never end,. When I received the letter from IRS demanding $20,086.00 due July 13, giving us only two to three weeks to pony up, I thought I was going to have a stroke.

I have valued you as respectable CPA in the past few years, but your years of experience as an IRS Agent was clearly an added benefit. You definitely worked a miracle (or maybe used some Ace card that you were holding on to for years), how ever you got a $20,000.00 debt reduced to them owing me $67.00 and all within the deadline, is so astounding. This was just miracle one. The state of California was following suit and requested' $3,581.58 and once again you had that reduced to them owing me $16.00.

I will be bringing my father's taxes in for you to review for the past few years, along with all my future tax needs.

I am deeply grateful for your service, wealth of competence and professional demeanor overall. If you ever run into a new client that is on the fence about changing their CPA, send them my way so I may sing your praises!

Sincerely yours,

Catherine Clark
